Where to file

State

New Jersey registration: Yes. Routine kitchen inspection: No. Cottage food products may only be delivered or relinquished at: the operator's home (not for onsite consumption), the consumer's NJ home, a NJ farmers market or other permitted NJ location. Products cannot be sold to wholesale establishments, retail food establishments, or shipped out of state. Online and phone order-taking is allowed as an ancillary activity, but physical delivery must occur in New Jersey person-to-person or at permitted locations. Charitable bake sales remain exempt under separate provisions.

Statute: N.J.A.C. 8:24-11 et seq.

Zoning / home occupation

Yes. NJ state law requires local zoning board approval confirming that the residential use for a cottage food operation is permitted before the state permit application is submitted. Each municipality in Bergen County has its own zoning board (Bergen County has 70 municipalities). Contact the applicable municipal zoning board for approval. State permit: $100 via NJ Dept. of Health, valid 2 years. Local ordinances are not preempted under NJ law.

Health

No. No home kitchen inspection required. Health authority may inspect upon complaint or suspected foodborne illness.

Business license

Varies

Pickup / delivery

Direct-to-consumer sales only. Online orders allowed but delivery must be in-person (no mail or third-party carrier). Sales may occur at home, farmers markets, farm stands, and direct-to-consumer events. No wholesale to restaurants or grocery stores. $50,000 annual cap.

If you rent a commissary kitchen

Local health departments license retail food. New Jersey cottage food is a state permit for home kitchens. A commissary or restaurant is a retail food establishment licensed by the local health department. Wholesale is a separate CEQHS license.
