Where to file

State

New Jersey registration: Yes. Routine kitchen inspection: No. Cottage food products may only be delivered or relinquished at: the operator's home (not for onsite consumption), the consumer's NJ home, a NJ farmers market or other permitted NJ location. Products cannot be sold to wholesale establishments, retail food establishments, or shipped out of state. Online and phone order-taking is allowed as an ancillary activity, but physical delivery must occur in New Jersey person-to-person or at permitted locations. Charitable bake sales remain exempt under separate provisions.

Zoning / home occupation

Yes. New Jersey requires local zoning board approval confirming residential use is permitted as part of the cottage food permit application. Cumberland County municipalities must provide this approval. This is a unique NJ requirement for cottage food operations specifically.

Health

No. Home kitchens not routinely inspected; health authority may enter if there is a complaint or suspected foodborne illness.

Business license

Varies

Pickup / delivery

Direct-to-consumer sales only. No wholesale to food establishments. No out-of-state sales. NJ residents only.

If you rent a commissary kitchen

Local health departments license retail food. New Jersey cottage food is a state permit for home kitchens. A commissary or restaurant is a retail food establishment licensed by the local health department. Wholesale is a separate CEOHS license.
